When you subscribe to JCROSN, you receive access to a new one-hour program each month – featuring Joint Commission surveyors, JCR consultants, and other experts – discussing standards-related topics such as tracers, risk assessments, medication safety, and care transitions. Best practices from hospitals like yours are featured, and subscribers have an opportunity to submit questions before or after each program concludes. Each program is made available to watch on demand afterward at your convenience and also offers continuing education credits.

Program titles subject to change.
