Program Description

Each year, The Joint Commission collects and analyzes standards compliance data to identify areas that accredited organizations and certified programs find most challenging. Equipped with these data, The Joint Commission can do the following:

- Identify trends.
- Focus education on these requirements.
- Update accreditation and certification manuals, as needed.
- Compare compliance data against data that it collects on standards inquiries from accredited or certified organizations to determine any correlation.

Through expert panel discussion and video case studies, this 60-minute program addresses the most recent challenging standards and provides examples of how your peer organizations are meeting these challenges.

Objectives

After completing this activity, the participant should be able to:

- Identify The Joint Commission hospital standards identified as the most challenging for the field.
- Discuss practical solutions to help meet these challenges.
- Create a work plan for implementing these solutions within your organization.

Target Audience

This activity is relevant to all healthcare leaders, medical staff, risk management professionals, performance improvement (PI) directors/Joint Commission coordinators, and nurse leaders.
