The arrival of 2013 means implementation of changes to the accreditation process, the standards, and elements of performance (EPs). It is critical for hospital leaders and accreditation managers to stay up-to-date with these changes.

In this program, experts help you assess your organization's compliance with these new standards and requirements. This program also focuses on key changes in The Joint Commission's accreditation process, as well as updated and revised details on new survey activities, sample tracers to address hospital priority focus areas and clinical/service groups, and sample survey agendas.

This 60-minute activity features Joint Commission experts who share the new and revised standards, as well as the accreditation process – with practical, up-to-date information to help all levels of hospital staff to maintain a state of constant survey readiness.

Target Audience

This activity is relevant to medical staff, organization leaders, managers, supervisors, and staff responsible for performance improvement, patient safety, and risk management initiatives.

Objectives

After completing this activity, the participant should be able to:

- Describe new and revised standards.
- Discuss how to meet new, changed, and challenging standards.
- List strategies to meet those standards identified as challenging.
- Identify changes in the survey process for 2013.
